SUMMARY OF NOTABLE INCIDENTS

Fraud

On March 15th a Tana Hill Ct resident reported at the police front desk that an ex-girlfriend had transferred $300 from his bank account to her bank account without his permission. The incident was turned over to the detective bureau for further investigation.

Trespassing

On March 19th officers responded to the Glamour Looks Salon and Spa on Grand River Ave for a report of a larceny in a building. Upon arrival officers learned from the spa owner that a customer came into the store and received $150 worth of services. The customer attempted to pay by check, but the employees advised that company policy does not allow checks to be taken. Staff also noticed that the check was written on a church account, that the original amount was scratched off, and that the signature did not match the customer's signature on her driver's license. The customer left the building to go to an ATM and never returned. Employees soon realized that a set of keys was missing for the building and suspected that the customer took them. Officers were able to track down the customer who paid the store in cash and returned the keys. The customer was served with a no trespassing order.
